

HAND SALUTE

| HOW | WHEN |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Raise your right hand in a direct manner keeping your upper arm parallel to the deck (floor) and form a 45 degree angle with your forearm.• Bring the tip of your index finger to the brim of your cover (hat) above and to the right of your eye keeping your thumb and fingers straight and firmly together.• When uncovered and required to salute, bring the tip of your index finger to the outside edge of your eyebrow.• When not in ranks, turn your head and eyes towards the person being saluted.• Salute smartly | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Execute at attention• While in uniform salute all officers, colors, and standards not cased.• Salute colors or the music for colors when in sight or hearing.• Salute when covered and outdoors.• Salute indoors if in the performance of watch standing duties.• Junior ranks always salute senior ranks first.• When in formation, the person in charge of the formation salutes for the entire formation. |

